Truman Names Republican To Boss RFC

Harry A. McDonald To Run It On Merit; Investigation Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—An active Republican prepared today to become boss of the multi-million dollar Reconstruction Finance Corporation under an announced policy of loans "on a basis of business and merit—no politics."

Even as Harry A. McDonald enunciated this policy, however a move sprang up to launch a new Senate investigation of the huge scandal-scarred government lending agency.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), Senate Banking Committee chairman, announced he had ordered an inquiry into the resignation of W. Stuart Symington as RFC administrator.

He said senate action on president Truman's nomination of Harry A. McDonald to succeed Symington probably would be held up until after the inquiry. McDonald, now chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, is a close personal friends of Symington.

Symington To Quit

Symington, a top Truman Administration official for six years, is quitting Jan. 15. The president, in a letter yesterday addressed to "Dear Stu," said he accepted the resignation with utmost reluctance."

The RFC now is "in good shape," Symington said, and he was returning to private business "for personal reasons."

Symington took over the RFC last May after President Truman abolished the agency's five-man board of directors, following sensational hearings by a Senate subcommittee. The hearings produced the capital's first mink coat scandals and the subcommittee accused the directors of yielding to a political influence ring with White House connections.

McDonald told a reporter he would continue Symington's "goldfish bowl" policy of disclosing all information on government loans. He said he hoped to retain most of the key RFC personnel.

Bars Influence

As for political influence, McDonald said, "we just don't expect anybody to try it. We certainly won't permit it."

McDonald, 57, is a native of Cherokee, Iowa. He served in the Navy in World War I, became a business man in Cleveland, later a broker and dairyman in Detroit.

As a Michigan Republican leader, he was chairman of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission for three years. He was appointed to the SEC by President Truman in 1947 and became chairman in 1949. The new post would mean an increase in salary for McDonald from $15,000 to $17,500.

European Reactions Vary On "Ike" Issue

PARIS (AP)—Western Europeans showed some pleasure, considerable puzzlement and a little worry today over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's willingness to run for the United States presidency.

Politicians kept quiet, in the tradition—that discretion is better than foolhardy comment about another nation's politics.

French press comment ranged from a guess that President Truman might welcome Eisenhower's nomination as a guarantee for European defense policies to a reminder that "this phantom candidates has not yet won the game."

The British expressed great esteem for the American commander of Allied forces in Europe and fretted about who would replace him at the Atlantic Pact supreme headquarters if he wins the Republican nomination.

Papers in Germany and Italy—whose armies were defeated by Eisenhower's command in the late war—offered no comment.

Like the British, American officials in Paris worried about what might happen to Atlantic defenses if Eisenhower leaves the command. But the announcement did not seem to surprise the Americans.

City Hospital's 'Miracle Twins' Recover

POSING FOR their going-away picture at City Hospital Thomas and Barbara Schleicher are the example of health, compared to their incubator photos (at left) taken when they weighed one and one-half pounds each. Nurse Elizabeth Berg, whose constant care has given them a fighting chance in life, admiringly holds the twins (at right).

Born 3 Days Apart, Weighed 1½ Pounds

New Medical Techniques Credited With Saving Them

THE oldest of twin children, weighing less than two pounds each, born prematurely three days apart last October, left Salem City Hospital Sunday for home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schleicher, Jr., of Craig Beach, Lake Milton.

The second twin probably will be home in two weeks. The babies were born to Mrs. Schleicher after six and one-half months pregnancy.

Thomas, born Oct. 23, weighed one pound, 14 ounces at birth and weighed six pounds when discharged. Barbara, born Oct. 26, weighed one pound, 14 ounces, and now weighs five pounds, five ounces.

THE CARE necessary to keep the babies alive is emphasized by statistics showing that babies weighing over five and one-half pounds at birth have 15 times the chance for survival the first year of life as a premature infant, according to Charles J. Mosher, Jr. administrator of the Salem City Hospital.

Of the twins, Thomas was the hardest to get started at birth, while Barbara developed complications later. The involuntary reflexes had not yet developed at birth, causing the boy to quit breathing. The girl later developed a temporary anemia.

THE INFANTS were tube fed with a hypodermic syringe. The feeding started with 16 drops of glucose water every two hours and then they were put on a formula by tube. They were under oxygen for 45 days and in an incubator for 69 days.

Two new medical techniques, a new tube feeding procedure and a method of maintaining proper heart beat, contributed heavily to saving their lives, Mosher said.

The most important factor, however, for saving prematures is continuous expert nursing care, in this case supplied by Mrs. Elizabeth Berg, nursery supervisor, Mrs. Bessie Rankin, obstetrical supervisor, and other members of the maternity nursing staff, Mosher stated.

Premature infants are a serious economic problem to hospitals and families, Mosher points out. He says the cost of hospital care for one premature infant varies from $200 to $1,000. At Salem City Hospital, the cost of premature births amounts to $15,000 per year, he said.

A good program, Mosher states, requires prenatal care through doctors and public health clinics to prevent premature births.

Boy Kidnapped Oct. 20 Found

Found Chained To Bed In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—A teen-age boy was found chained to a bed in a filthy house here today. Officers said the lad told them he was abused sexually by the man who held him captive.

An accused bank robber, charged with a $20,000 holdup during a snowstorm yesterday, was named by officers as the youth's captor.

John D. Billett, 24-year-old used car salesman, was arrested on the bank robbery charge last night.

Deputy Sheriff T. A. Callicott said Billett later admitted kidnapping Richard Evan (Ricky) Henricksen, who had been missingg since last October. Callicott said Billett then led officers to the three-room house where the 14-year-old boy was held.

The lad had bruises over much of his body but otherwise was in fair physical condition. Callicott said the boy told of numerous sexual indignities at the hands of his captor. The man slept with him most of the time he was held, Callicott said Ricky told him.

Ricky's father, Evan R. Henricksen, is a garage mechanic. There is only one other child, Irene, Ricky's twin sister.

Callicott said Billett had served a prison sentence in California for robbery, being released June 27, 1950, on condition he leave the state.

Ricky disappeared last Oct. 20. Police throughout the western states had been alerted to watch for him. Local officers had questioned many persons, including Billett, but had been unable to run down a tangible clue.

Ricky said Billett told him he was a special police officer. The lad said he was accused of various thefts and was informed he would have to go with Billett for questioning.

Ricky then told of a series of beatings, which he said were described as "tests to see if I would confess to stealing all that stuff."

Two Teen-Age Soldiers Try Holdup, Are Nabbed

RAVENNA — Two teen-age soldiers, AWOL from a southern airbase, faced juvenile court in Ravenna today in the aftermath of a gun battle with Theodore H. Crowe of Brimfield.

Ravenna police said that the two attacked Crowe with a hatchet and tried to rob him of $175. Crowe beat off his 17-year-old attackers and engaged in a gun fight with them.

School Board Adopts Budget

Dawson Re-elected President For 1952

A temporary three-month budget of $271,725 was approved by the Board of Education at its first 1952 meeting Monday night in the high school. The comparative budget last year was $218,200.

Of the total, $256,725 was estimated for general fund purposes and $15,000 for retirement of bonds and payment of interest on bonds.

A new member—Orein Naragon, cashier at the First National Bank—and two re-elected members—Attorney Alfred Fitch and John Litty—were sworn in. All will serve four-year terms. Mr. Naragon replaces George P. Lozier, 1951 vice president, who completed 12 years of service on the board.

Dawson Re-elected

E. S. Dawson, re-elected president by board members for 1952, and Robert Campbell, chosen vice president, still have two years to serve on their present four-year terms. George F. Koontz, serving his 19th year as clerk, was renamed for a two-year term.

E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, informed the board the

Commissioners Pick Crawford President

Kim Crawford of Rogers was elected president of the Columbiana County Board of Commissioners at a reorganization meeting Monday in the Courthouse at Lisbon.

He succeeds Clarence Robinson. Galen Greenisen, the third and newest member of the board, was elected vice-president.

Mrs. Esther Rutter of Lisbon and Mrs. Olive Johnston of Salineville were reappointed clerk and assistant clerk, respectively.

Besides retaining maintenance personnel at the Courthouse, the commissioners also reappointed William Marty of East Palestine as county apiary inspector and retained Frank Irwin of East Palestine as sealer of weights and measures.

A temporary appropriation was made for the first three months of this year. It includes $300 for an extension of bounty payments for foxes, started in January 1951.

WHEEL DISCS STOLEN

James L. Wright, sales manager of the H. I. Hine Motor Co. on S. Broadway reported to police that sometime during the night of Jan. 5 or 6 someone stole three wheel discs from a 1950 car parked in the garage lot.

Program Announced For 21st Farmers Institute Jan. 16-17

Rev. Homer E. Felty of Ironton and Mrs. Doris P. Wipert of R. D. 2, Washington Courthouse, state speakers, will deliver addresses Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 16 and 17, at the 21st annual Salem Farmers Institute.

Five sessions of the institute—the morning, afternoon and evening of Jan. 16 and the morning and afternoon of Jan. 17—will be held at the Memorial Building and a Jan. 17 evening session, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for 8:15 p. m. in Salem High School.

Rev. Felty, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Ironton, has traveled and studied in Europe. A member of farm organizations and interested in civil improvement, he is a graduate of Otterbein University.

Mrs. Wipert, a real dirt farmer at one time, is now actively engaged in the Grange Parent-Teachers Association and the Order of the Eastern Star.

Lecturers and the sessions at which they will be in charge are as follows: Mrs. Jean Sitler, Mount Nebo Grange; Mrs. Gladys John, Salem Grange; Mrs. Ray Beck, Goshen Grange; Mrs. Kenneth Oyer, Willow Grove Grange; and Mrs. Juanita Swartz, Perry Grangge.

Officers for the 1953 institute will also be chosen.

The Heather Highlanders of Youngstown, a group of 18 girls of Scottish descent, will provide bagpipe music as the entertainment for the Chamber of Commerce program, in charge of Lloyd Gordon, Chamber of Commerce program, ggdakrrg zx merce president-elect.

Of the 317 farmers institutes held in Ohio last year, the Salem intitute was sixth in attendance. Admission is free and the programs are open to the public.

French Delegate Flays Vishinsky

Jean Chauvel Charges Russia Bogs Peace

PARIS (AP)—France's United Nations delegate, Jean Chauvel, today accused Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of causing a slowdown in the Korean armistice negotiations.

The truce talks at Panmunjom "weren't going so badly until the initiative was taken by the Soviet delegate here," Chauvel told the 60-nation U.N. political committee.

Chauvel was attacking a Soviet resolution calling for a high level meeting of the Security Council to intervene in the armistice discussions. The Russian proposal also would dissolve the collective measures committee which has recommended a regional security plan backed by the West.

Vishinsky Answers

Vishinsky at once angrily replied that since the talks at the front have been going on without results for six months, they "must be expedited to a successful conclusion."

Vishinsky contended this could be done only by a "high level meeting of the most responsible persons in the world—except the chiefs of state, of course."

This was interpreted as a clear-cut demand for the foreign ministers of the 11 Security Council countries to take over the talks.

Vishinsky's ideas were expected to be defeated today or early tomorrow in a vote on the western-backed plan for authorizing the regional security forces to combat aggression.

Nations To Favor West

Most of the 60 nations were expected to vote for it. The Soviet Union and her allies bitterly oppose it.

A key provision would give the U.N. General Assembly power to act when Security Council action is halted by a veto. The western powers command a majority in the assembly and could take whatever action they wished over Soviet objections. Russia, China France, Britain and the United States have veto powers in the Security Council.

The United States, France, Britain and Brazil announced last night they were offering an amendment to the Soviet resolution asking a high-level council meeting. It would, in effect, emasculate the Russian plan.

Boy In Theft Cases Sentenced

Second Suspect Held For Grand Jury

Two Salem boys who confessed Monday to 13 burglaries and two car thefts in a one-month span are in the Mahoning County Jail at Youngstown—the younger on his way to the reformatory and his companion awaiting the Grand Jury.

Vance C. Moore, 17, was sentenced to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield until he's 21.

Bernard A. Wright, 20, was bound over to the April Grand Jury under $5,000 bond.

Both pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to breaking into Shingler's Jewelry in Wellsville, Dec. 29, and taking merchandise valued at $1,700.

Lectured By Judge

Moore was arraigned before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin and got a stern lecture along with the nearly-four-year sentence.

Wright's preliminary hearing was before Justice of the Peace Felix Butch.

They were arrested about 3 a. m. Monday by Salem police after a search at the younger boy's home uncovered two stolen cars, a small arsenal of guns and quantities of silverplate and jewelry.

Moore has a record extending back several years, police said. He's been in reformatories in Indiana and New Mexico. Wright

Roads Near Turnpike To Be Rebuilt

The State Highway Department expects to start rebuilding sections of three roads being broken up by heavy truck traffic from the Pennsylvania turnpike early in March.

T. J. Kauer, state highway director, said he could not estimate how much it will cost to rebuild State Route 90 from Petersburg to the Pennsylvania state line, State Route 170 between Unity and State Route 341 and widen and strengthen State Route 341—the shortest state route in Ohio.

Kauer already has reduced by 25 per cent weights of trucks that can use these roads, to slow down their breaking up. He said one project will cover all three roads.

It will be designed to strengthen them enough to last for two years, when the eastern section of the contemplated Ohio turnpike should be finished.

Heavy trucks have made large chuck-holes in the roads around Petersburg, now used to get on or off the Pennsylvania superroad.

Kauer also said his department will give Unity its first traffic light at the intersection of State Routes 170 and 14. That is where trucks must turn to change routes.

Senator Says He Has Enough Votes Pledged

Ohican Hints He Knew Eisenhower Would Be Candidate for Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) claimed today that if all the pledges he now holds are translated into voting strength he will win the Republican presidential nomination.

That was the Ohioan's answer to the statement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that he is a Republican and would respond to a "clearcut call to political duty," but would not personally campaign for the GOP nomination.

Taft told a reporter he believes this makes Eisenhower only a "draft" possibility, adding:

"If all of the pledges we have obtained from all over the country can be translated into delegates when they are chosen, I believe we have more than half of the convention votes."

The GOP nominating meeting, to be held in Chicago early in July, will have slightly more than 1,200 delegates, with more than 600 votes needed for the nomination. None of the delegates has been formally chosen yet.

Expected Ike To Run

Taft said he always assumed that other candidates would be seeking the nomination and that "General Eisenhower would be one of them."

He intimated he had expected Eisenhower to doff his uniform as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces and return as a civilian to campaign.

But Eisenhower said at his Paris headquarters yesterday that "under no circumstances will I ask for relief from this assignment in order to seek nomination to political office and I shall not participate in the pre-convention such an intention with respect to activities of others who may have me."

Taft said he interprets this as meaning Eisenhower will have to be drafted to obtain the nomination, and commented:

"I think this will make matters easier for us."

Taft said he is confident he will harvest a sizeable number of GOP convention delegates from New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Kansas, home states of the principal Eisenhower leaders.

Kansas is regarded as Eisenhower's "home" state and Harry Darby, Kansas national committeeman and an Eisenhower leader, has been seeking a delegation pledged solidly for the general as evidence of "grass roots" support.

Taft said he has been informed he has a good chance of getting a majority of the 10 delegates to be chosen at large in Pennsylvania, home state of Senator Duff, a leader in the Eisenhower drive.

Taft predicted he would come out of New York with "20 to 30" of the state's delegates. New York tentatively has been assigned 94 delegates, but is trying for 100.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has been maneuvering to line up solid support for Eisenhower in New York.

Taft said that on the basis of present indications, he believes he will get one-third of the Massachusetts delegation which Senator Lodge (R-Mass), national chairman of the Eisenhower movement, is trying to swing to the general.

Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin said there was a possibility that Eisenhower's name might be entered in his state's April 1 primary.

The law requires that a candidate must certify the list of delegates running for him and Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass) said that might not be possible under Eisenhower's statement he will take no part in the pre-convention campaigning.

Democrats generally weren't enthusiastic about Eisenhower's statement.

Warren Man Indicted For Income Tax Evasion

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal grand jury today indicted Keeler Cox, 38, of Warren on two counts of evading income taxes.

In one count Cox, as president of the Falls Printing Co. of Warren was charged with reporting a 1946 net income for the firm of $14,433 and a tax of $3,219 when, the government alleges, the firm's net income was $24,539 and the tax should have been $5,634.

The other count accuses Cox as president of the Cox Lithographing Co. of paying $5,233 on $22,933 net income by the firm in 1947, whereas the government charges the firm actually earned $34,871 and should have paid $10,982 in tax.

Loses 40 Lbs. Goes From Size 42 Dress To A 16

Marion Lady Is Relieved Of Gas and Bloat

"Rennel Concentrate has done wonders for me," writes Helen Lahr, 119 W. Mill St., Marion, Ohio. "I weighed 180 lbs. when I started to take Rennel, and now I weigh 140 lbs. My dress size has changed from size 42 to 16, and I have lost all that heaviness. Rennel has also relieved me of bloat and gas. I have cut down on starchy foods, but eat anything I want."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it—you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on genuine Rennel.

It's Still 'Eisenhowever'

IF YOU KNOW whether or not Dwight Eisenhower finally is running for the Republican presidential nomination, you know more than the professional politicians now throwing straws in the wind to get the drift of things. As far as they're concerned, it's still "Eisenhowever."

The net result of Sen. Lodge's straw-throwing is the single statement by Gen. Eisenhower that Lodge was right when he said the general thinks of himself as a Republican. Strange as it is for a man being talked about as presidential material to remain a mystery in this respect so long, Gen Eisenhower never had cleared up this matter before.

To that extent, he has helped those Republicans booming him for a presidential nomination. The Democrats who would like to get rid of Harry Truman can quit dreaming about Eisenhower. If he is going to get into presidential politics, he will line up with the Republicans.

If his backers can deliver the nomination to him on a platter next summer, he will take it. But he is not running to get it. They will have to do all the running.

They are willing to do this. Their goal is to cut down the lead which Sen. Taft has built up in recent weeks. They will try to do this by using presidential primaries to reveal Eisenhower's strength. The same strategy will be used by Governor Warren of California and Harold E. Stassen, the other two avowed candidates.

The trick in all this, of course, is to bring the presidential possibilities into the home-stretch without having developed such a state of bitterness that the nomination is no longer worth having.

It is unfortunate, in this respect, that so many of the party leaders now warming up to run in behalf of Dwight Eisenhower are hostile to Sen. Taft. They are for the most part the same people who backed Wendell Willkie in his bid for the nomination in 1944, then bestowed it a second time on Thomas E. Dewey rather than give it to the man who had done most to earn it.

Fun With Figures

IT IS TAKEN for granted that one of the first things Congress will do when it returns to Washington is to raise the public debt limit from its present legal figure of $275,000,000,000.

If the limit were raised, it probably would be set at $300,000,000,000 where it was set in 1945. The next year the Truman administration asked that the figure be reduced to $275,000,000,000, where it has remained ever since.

At its highest point, the debt reached $279,000,000,000 plus in February, 1946. Its lowest point after the war was reached on April 30, 1949, when the debt was reduced to $249,500,000,000. This month it is inching upward to $200,000,000,000.

The reason for raising and lowering the legal limit is politics, not legal and certainly not moral. There is no known way to keep Congressmen from appropriating money—and certainly no known way to keep the executive department from asking for appropriations.

But it is good phychology to go through the motions. In 1929-1933 the debt limit was a mere 25 billion. The ante was hoisted to 30, then to 45 and finally to 65 billion when the attack was made on Pearl Harbor.

Thereafter, it was boosted along to 125 billion in 1942, to 210 billion in 1943, to 260 billion in 1944 and to 300 billion in 1945. Only 35 years ago, before public spending was discovered, the U.S. public debt used to hover close to one billion dollars.

Don't Bet Against It

NO ONE makes the collective heart of America beat faster than Winston Churchill, who is mistrusted and admired with equal intensity.

On this, his latest visit, it will be hard for him to command admiration because of the nature of the errand, which is to ask for help. But no one will be surprised if he turns his visit into a minor triumph because of a trait which should not be underestimated in either Mr. Churchill or his countrymen.

Adversity does not daunt them perceptibly. With certain rare and golden exceptions, the British have been grappling with adversity at close quarters throughout the Christian era. They have turned it into a virtue.

Those who have been waiting to count them out are going to be waiting a long time. They may have to wait as long as those who have been waiting for the British to see the light of truth and walk toward it eagerly.

As Mr. Churchill arrives to see what can be done about improving Britain's prospects of survival, the best long-odds bet in these early days of the second half of the 20th century is that Britain will still be worrying about its prospects of survival after its contemporaries have quit worrying about anything.

German Peace

By PETER EDSON

Talks Being Handled Like Japan's

WASHINGTON

THE proposed new peace contract with the Federal Republic of Western Germany is being negotiated much as John Foster Dulles negotiated the peace treaty with Japan. There is no formal peace conference. Instead, representatives of the United States, Britain and France have been meeting quietly in Paris and in the new German capital in Bonn to try to reach agreement. U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy has been principal U.S. negotiator.

The peace contract finally drawn up will for all practical purposes make western Germany a fully sovereign country. That means that the three occupying powers—the U.S., Britain and France—must surrender much of their authority over German affairs.

The three Allied powers will retain their rights to maintain troops on German soil. This right will continue at least until such time as German armed forces or the new European army is ready to take over. That will be two years or more.

The three allies will also retain their right to deal with Soviet Russia over the ultimate unification of Germany, the handling of Berlin affairs, and the final treaty of peace.

In addition to the main peace contract, there will be four or five annexes. The original date for completion of the drafting of the main contract and the annexes was Jan. 15. But it is unlikely that this deadline will be met.

One of the most important of the annexes will set up an arbitration tribunal to resolve differences between Germany and the Allied powers on problems arising under the contract. The Allies and Germany will be equally represented, with a neutral as chairman. The tribunal will probably be given powers to correct grievances which have arisen during the occupation. Decisions of the tribunal will be final.

Another of the annexes will deal with continuing the reform programs started by the occupying powers in their efforts to democratize Germany. De-Nazification, the decentralization and decartelization of German industry have by no means been completed. The United States is using its influence to insist that these programs all be continued, in Germany's own interest.

Civil rights of the American, British and French troops stationed in Germany will be defined in another of the annexes.

Finally, there will be an agreement on how Germany will meet the costs of her military defense during the transition period between her occupation by the Allied powers and her independence.

Under the occupation, Germany has paid the costs of maintaining Allied troops on German soil. The Germans could afford to do this because they had no armed forces of their own to support.

Under the peace contract, however—and under the European army agreement as well—Germany will have to pay her share of the common defense. For the first year, while Germany is building up her own armed services, this cost may be small. But after that Germany cannot pay the costs of her own armed services and at the same time support Allied forces stationed in Germany.

On the other hand, though the United States can meet its own costs for keeping troops in Europe, Britain and France feel that they cannot. Paris negotiations are still trying to resolve these problems.

After the peace contract with Germany is agreed upon by the negotiators and by their foreign offices in Washington, London and Paris, the next problem will be how to secure ratification by the four governments. The German Bundestag will have to ratify, for the new government.

How the matter will be handled in the United States has not been decided, pending conferences between the State Department and the Congressional leaders. If the new contractural relationship is considered a permanent treaty of peace, it will have to be ratified by the U.S. Senate.

If, however, the peace contract is regarded as a temporary executive department agreement—like the regulations governing military occupation—no Congressional action may be required. Or the whole contract might be approved by joint Congressional resolution.

After Germany is unified and a final peace treaty is approved with Russia as a signer, it would have to be ratified by the Senate. But at the present time, little hope is held for the success of the United Nations move to hold free elections in all Germany on the question of unification.

That's Life, Not Golf

By TRUMAN TWILL

GOLF, a game whose triumphs and disappointments have been almost as unpredictable as life itself, has done away with the stymie.

This will gladden the hearts of golfers. But it's no good for golf. It will weaken the game more than anything since a duffer invented the unofficial winter lie which permits a cheater to doctor the position of his ball.

The stymie was a natural hazard. It was perfectly natural and wholly accidental for one golf ball sometimes to be in the way of another golf ball, thereby handicapping a player unfairly. That's life, brother, not golf.

It is a replica of a situation that pops up so often that human beings will continue to use the word "stymie" even though it no longer can happen in golf. Representatives of the U. S. Golf Association and Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews have banned it forever, starting Jan. 1 this year. It was a triumph for the sure-thing advocates.

Others will be encouraged to campaign for the elimination of the point after touchdown in football, another reflection of life itself. For want of a nail a battle was lost. For want of a place-kicker, a football game was lo . Because of a stymie, a hero became a sucker and went back to work in his old man's grocery store.

Because one of the mightiest wallops of all time happened to be blown a few feet one way or the other, a ball game was lost—also many a rude encounter with the giants and demons of cruel adversity.

If it weren't for that second serve, many tennis matches might have turned out otherwise, also many matches between upper dogs and under dogs in other areas of competition.

An athlete inadvertiently steps over the line and nullifies a record-breaking performance. He commits a foul against an opponent with no malice in his heart and gets thrown out of the basketball game.

A gust of wind at the wrong instant, a pebble in the wrong place, a wet spot on the playing surface, a speck of dust in the eye, a bite of bad food, or a broken shoelace may upset the highest hopes. That's part of the sport.

Such things can happen to anybody and nearly always have. Games which contain an element of hazard always have had more appeal to sporting blood than those which were merely exhibitions of skill with everything cut and dried.

Not that golf ever will become cut and dried—not with those awkwardly designed implements for hitting that perverse little pellet which seems to want to go everywhere but where it should go. But banning the stymie takes away some of the savor imparted to golf by those dour Scots who invented this sadistic punishment for those who felt like playing games.

It is one more of those things being done to soften all rules and regulations for the benefit of those who cannot bear the thought of being clobbered on the kisser if they inadvertently step on the upturned blade of an abandoned hoe. It may be progress, but it could be surrender.

Truman, Churchill Living In Dream World

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON

PRIME MINISTER Churchill and President Truman, if the advance notices of the things they are to talk about are to be accepted, are living in a dream world. It's a world in which the heads of two governments still think they can plan agreements for allocation of raw materials or for economic adjustments on the assumption that peaceful coexistence with Communist imperialism is feasible.

Mr. Truman, for example, is actually thinking of cutting military expenditures this year, which means curtailment of American air power at a critical moment when air power is the primary need for defense and offense. Likewise, the whole attitude here and in Britain toward the Korean situation is that, once a truce is established there, the continent of Asia will be relatively quiet.

What both Mr. Truman and Mr. Churchill, outwardly at least, decline to concede is that the ball isn't in their hands at all, that the initiative still is with Soviet Russia and that move after move is being made by the Communists as the western powers flounder in bewilderment.

An instance of this is the effect produced by Vishinsky's speech at the United Nations assembly. He hints broadly at trouble in southeast Asia. Whether it is a threat or a forecast of a new Soviet move, he suddenly asks that the armistice negotiations in Korea be taken over by the United Nations. Nobody in official quarters is able to figure out the meaning of this or any other move the Soviets make for the simple reason that almost everybody in top officialdom refuses to be realistic about the behavior of the Russians. Wishful thinking dominates almost every action or every statement of comment on this side.

WHAT ISN'T accepted is that the Communists have completely bluffed the western powers into appeasement when there isn't the slightest justification for running away from the Russian threats. So great is the fear of large-scale war that the American policy is to accept Russian offensives without venturing to indicate the limits of American patience.

The demand for a ransom by Hungary was a critical test. The United States paid the ransom but failed to follow up the move with stern and decisive action. There will, therefore, be more ransom demands. In fact, today, the Chinese Communists, egged on by Moscow, are virtually holding 3,000 or more American prisoners as the price of further concessions on the Korean armistice. If America will pay $120,000 for four airmen, what will she not pay for 3,000 American prisoners?

Meanwhile, the trouble areas are increasing in number. Egypt shows evidence of intensified military activity. French sources report that 200,000 Communist troops with full battle gear are massed north of the Indo-China border. Also there are signs of a possible move by Red China to bombard Formosa from the air and bring complications there.

So long as the British and American governments pursue the path of appeasement and still consider it is worth trying for "settlements" with Moscow by negotiation, the chances are world tension will increase.

What seems to be difficult for the statesmen of Britain and the United States to accept is that World War III, Russian style, is here and has been for five years and that the Russian technique means a lot of local wars and more and more bleeding of American economic resources year by year while the processes of Russian subversion and infiltration give the Allies more and more headaches in the Far East, southeast Asia and the Middle East.

Sooner or later Britain and America will have to accept the realistic fact that, in order to get peace and avoid a war of large-scale military operations, it is important to show a willingness to fight such a war.

EVERY MOVE made by the United States in recent months has been based on the assumption that the Russians will be frightened off by the American armament program. There are no signs that the Moscow regime has been deterred in the slightest since the resistance to aggression in Korea was undertaken and American rearmament got under way. It is admitted publicly now by General Nuckols, spokesman for the American negotiators, that the Communist negotiators act as if they were the victors and as if they were dictating the armistice terms. He says: "Every major concession during the talks has been made by the United Nations command."

The sooner the British and American governments see the importance of taking the initiative from the Russians and starting tactics of infiltration and counter-aid to elements behind the Iron Curtain, the sooner the Russians will come to terms. It is a calculated risk that could mean big war but the inevitability of such a war under the present drift of events grows clearer with each bold act of the Communists.

Firm action can stop the limited wars but weak policies will prolong tension and bring incidents that will make large-scale war unavoidable. Mr. Churchill used to be a realist. Mr. Truman and the British prime minister can shape the course of future events toward peace. Their conference can bring more deterioration and appeasement or it can bring resoluteness and the beginning of a policy to enforce peace.

Tombs At Athens

A NEW CHAPTER in the history of the ancient world may be opened by the discovery of 13 tombs in the ruins of Athens, an American archaeologist says.

Finding of the tombs, dug about 3,500 years ago, was reported by Homer A. Thompson, field director of the expedition restoring the market place, or Agora, of the city which cradled Greek civilization.

The discoveries, Thompson said, revise long accepted theories of a period of Greek history about which little is known.

Perfectly preserved skeletons were found in the tombs, and burial ornaments which definitely change current concepts about the state of Athenian culture of the bronze age.

The graves contained vases jewelry, bronze daggers and ivory combs.

Thompson told an assemblage of the Archaeological Institute of America at Princeton, N. J., the evidence found makes possible extension of knowledge of the bronze age by as much as 200 years, possibly to 1600 BC.

The skill of the handiwork on the objects found in the graves, makes it clear that the Athenians of this early period were well advanced culturally, contrary to accepted ideas, Thompson said.

Archaeologists discovered the graves last summer while they were clearing away ruins built on top of the famous Athenian market place.

The project got its start in 1896 under the direction of German archaeologists.

The current American expeditions began in 1931 but were interrupted in wartime.

The Greek counterpart of a bulletin board, tablets guarded from citizens' fingers by massive stone rails, also were found during this year's digging. The tablets carried public notices and drafts of proposed laws.

Congressional Quiz

Q—When I was in service in World War II there was plenty of waste in the military. Is it still going on?

A—Yes, according to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, which reported Dec. 7 that its survey of six Air Force training centers "provided further evidence that the Armed Forces are permeated with waste." Examples included "hotel style dormitories" and proposals to build a lighted baseball diamond and golf course.

Greenland is considered the largest island in the world. It covers an area of 827,300 square miles.

'Frontiersmen'

By HAL BOYLE

They're Suburbanites of Today

NEW YORK

THE Daniel Boone of today is the suburbanite.

He inhabits America's last frontier—the suburbs. And it is the only frontier in our country's history that is increasing instead of dwindling.

Hal Boyle

A suburb is one of those vague populated places you get lost in when you drive out of a big city. Where they come from nobody knows, but every year motorists report more and more of them.

They usually bear such quaint names as Quagmire Heights or Swampville-on-the-Rappahannock. There seems to be no particular reason why they spring up in any one place. There is a report that once a train pulling out of a city paused courteously to let a cow cross the track. Before the train started up some enterprising real estate dealer wandered by, stuck up a sign saying "Bovine Meadows," and started selling lots to the passengers.

Suburbs vary, but they usually have these things in common: An antique store, two liquor stores, four real estate offices, one taxi you can never get when you need it, and a railroad station that closes on cold nights whenever the ticket seller sees a lone wayfarer who wants to come in and get warm.

You also usually find a fresh cemetery in an older suburb because the natives don't like the idea of having the newcomers buried beside their own vanished kin. They figure it is bad enough that they have to live with these Johnny-come-Latelys—but why should a real oldtimer have to share his graveyard, too?

THE AVERAGE suburbanite becomes one because he feels "the city is no place to raise children." So he buys a brightly painted home in the suburbs too big for a dollhouse and too small to shelter a St. Bernard dog.

Here he and his happy swarming brood live in the same kind of intimacy and harmony visible in a wrestling ring.

He becomes a Pilgrim between his home in the hinterland and his desk in the city, and he is a prisoner of the railroad that links them. There are two big events in his year—the days when they change the timetables and provide him with new reading matter.

The suburbanite has all the pains of a farmer and few of the joys of the urban dweller. In summer he comes to work bee-stung and over-borne with poison ivy, complaining, "a new bug ruined my garden last night. I fed DDT to the bugs and they just cried for more."

WINTER STRIKES him with a peculiar virulence. He finds that the only thing free in the suburbs is air, and sometimes there is too much of it after October. But when he staggers into work on January mornings, pinching his frost-bitten nose and ears, he only mutters manfully:

"My, the fresh air was like wine today out where I live." Frozen wine!

Bad weather snows him in, debt snows him under. He thought taxes would be low when he moved to the suburbs, but that was before the city council decided to pave the streets and build a new high school.

But your true suburbanite is a hardy soul. He is as much of a frontiersman as Daniel Boone or Kit Carson. They at least had a knife. There is nothing between him and disaster but his wits—and a cold paper mortgage.

He got out of the city because the traffic drove him crazy, and finds that it is as hard to park a car in a suburban shopping district as it is in Times Square. He yearned for neighborliness, and the guy who moves in next door buys a dog to bite his children.

THE SUBURBANITE gamely sticks it out, however, until the mortgage is paid and the kids reared. Then he sells his house to a new frontiersman, and tells his wife:

"Come on, honey, let's move back to the city—and start living again."

And ever after that if you mention fresh air to him he gets violently ill, for when a man retires from the frontier he leaves it forever.

TO DEFEAT COMMUNISM IN AMERICA WE MUST UNDERSTAND AND INSIST ON A MORAL PURPOSE FOR OUR GOVERNMENT

COMMUNIST IDEAS are not wrong just because they are Communist. They are wrong because they are immoral. For a Communist government, instead of protecting the individual's rights to Life, Liberty and Property, uses its power to take away these rights.

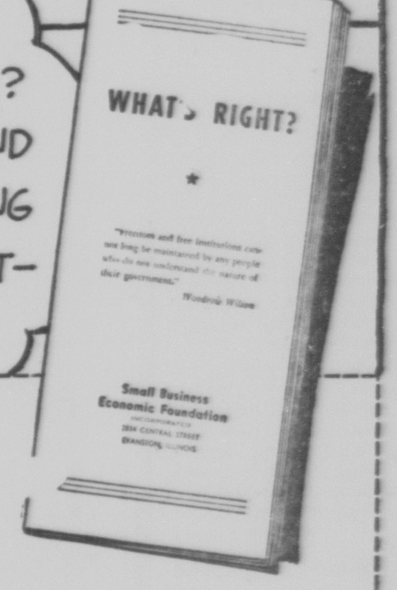

These rights are God-given rights, given to each man with the responsibility for his own existence. Any government that fails to protect the individual's rights to Life, Liberty and Property or that sets these rights aside for any purpose, is immoral.

SO, THE PURPOSE OF A MORAL GOVERNMENT MUST BE:

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP—AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

It is this purpose that Communism denies. It is this purpose that we must understand and demand for our government if America is to be free.

Bonnie Lou Dodd Becomes Bride of Joseph W. Bryan

The double ring ceremony was used Saturday evening by Rev. J. G. Waelde of the Lisbon Methodist Church when Miss Bonnie Lou Dodd became the bride of Joseph William Bryan. The quiet wedding took place in the living room of the bride's home at Echo-well Farm near Lisbon in the presence of relatives and friends.

Mr. Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Bryan of the Salem-Lisbon Rd. and was recently discharged from the Navy after four and a half years service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Olin J. Dodd, wore a dress of starlight faille and carried her nurses' Bible overlaid with a shower bouquet.

A Colonial bouquet complemented the orchid ensemble worn by the Miss Kay McIntire of Harlem Springs, O., maid of honor. Robert Bryan, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Miss Pat McIntire played the wedding march. Serving at the reception following the wedding were Mrs. Lois Amos of New Garden, Mrs. Laura Pilman of Salem, Mrs. John Smith of Winona and Mrs. Ralph McIntire of Carrollton. Pastel flowers decorated the table which was centered with a wedding cake.

After Jan. 10, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will be at home to their friends at Garfield Ave. in Beloit.

Helen Chitiea Sets New Wedding Date

Lt. Helen Chitiea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Chitiea of W. Wilson St. has set Sunday, Jan. 20 as the new date for her wedding to Lt. Sam Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Payne of Charleston, S. C.

Just prior to the original wedding date in September, Lt. Chitiea was seriously injured in an auto accident but she has now been discharged as a patient at Sampson Air Force Base Hospital. She had served there previously as an army nurse.

The Chitiea-Payne nuptials will take place in the First Baptist Church and Rev. R. J. Hunter will officiate at the 3:30 o'clock service. Following will be a reception for friends and relatives in Leul Hall.

BUTTONS CAN BE an important fashion accessory when they are used with imagination. The Sunday church-goer (above) is wearing a button blouse with removable yoke and sleeves. On the occasion of an afternoon tea with friends (upper center) she has removed the yoke and added a simple gold necklace and earrings for interest. For women handy with a needle, the buttons are easy to make, too (lower center). They come in a kit, complete with instructions, all ready to cover.

FOR GLAMOUR EVENINGS, completely remove both the yoke and the sleeves (above), and your blouse will be the perfect topper for a dressy skirt. Make the most of the loops by running a long strand of pearls gaily through. If you have two shorter strands, you can weave them through the loops at the end of the cape sleeves. Accentuate your throatline with fragile pearl-drop earrings, and wear long white evening gloves for the final and perfect feminine effect.

Lisbon Bridge Plans Told To Council

LISBON—Levi "Jack" Kimball, acting bridge engineer for the State Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, met with Village Council Monday night to answer questions about the proposed span to replace the Canton Bridge.

Mayor Wilbur Warren called line with that of W. Lincoln Way, residents protested that construction would cut into their properties.

Kimball said the east end of the span will be moved slightly to the south to bring its centerline in line wit hthat of W. Lincoln Way. A jog to the north exists now. He allayed fears that construction will affect property seriously.

In response to a resident's assertion that W. Lincoln Way's centerline is now farther south that it should be according to the recorded plat, Kimball said "that's a problem for council, not the State Highway Department." "We're lining the bridge up with the street the way it is now."

Kimball, who was accompanied by Carl Armstrong of New Philadelphia, Division 11 survey engineer, said plans will be completed about March 1.

Residents were represented by a committee composed of Walter Dawson, Sam Nold and Frank Davies. About 30 attended, including county commissioners.

If your food had stayed as low in price as electricity for the past 10 years you'd get this much for what you now pay for this much

It's startling when you think of it! The average American family pays less per kilowatt-hour of electricity today than it did ten years ago!
Living costs have gone 'way up. The cost of materials, manpower and everything else needed to provide your electric service has gone 'way up, too. But your rates have stayed low. Your electric service is still the biggest bargain in the family budget!

Traffic Congestion, Joe Kelley's Death Topped Salem Stories In 1951

By RALPH FRATILA

'Traffic'

That was Salem's Big Story of 1951. A churning, lashing tidal wave of traffic that ripped up streets and menaced pedestrians and tightened its confining influence on the lives and habits of the residents.

The Story had assumed 'first draft' form even before the birth of the past year. Fed by ceaseless streams of vehicles from one national and three state highways, Salem's State Street was already groaning under an overwhelming burden.

Then, on June 6, the Canton Bridge on U.S. Route 30 at Lisbon was closed to all heavy truck traffic and those vehicles were detoured through Salem. Several weeks later Route 224 at Ellsworth was barricaded for repairs and traffic from that highway was also funneled through town.

STATE STREET became a traffic policeman's nightmare. During the rush hours, daylight couldn't be seen between the bumper-to-bumper vehicles. Pedestrians stepped warily; traffic mishaps occurred with ever-increasing regularity. The street became pock-marked with holes and grooves.

Finally, on Sept. 17 after months of evading the issue, the State Highway Department announced plans for the construction of a bypass around Salem. The proposed detour would link Routes 45 and 14 at the junction of West State St., Pine St. and the Benton Rd.

As the past year faded into history, the question in everyone's mind was whether or not State St. could exist as a street until the bypass was completed. The opening of the new Pennsylvania turnpike in December released an additional surge of traffic through Salem.

When Route 46 between Columbiana and Canfield is closed for repairs (bids have already been let on the project) all Pittsburgh-Cleveland heavy truck traffic will have to pass over State St. This might well prove to be the 'kiss of death' to an already-collapsing thoroughfare.

THE EVENT WHICH had the sharpest impact on the hearts of the community in 1951 was the death, August 17, of Joseph Martin Kelley, 51, director of the Memorial Building for 27 years.

Joe Kelley, a name synonymous in Salem with the intelligent, devoted guidance of youth, was a second father to the city's kids. Organizer of the Mickey McGuire baseball league, he also re-organized the Salem Boosters Club, had charge of all city softball leagues, served as a director of the Salem Golf Club and occupied numerous other responsible positions in various civic organizations and campaigns.

By proclamation of Mayor Harry Vincent, the city's flags were flown at half-mast during the Sunday afternoon while Joe Kelley's body lay in state at the Memorial Building. More than 4,000 mourners filed reverently past his coffin to pay their last respects to one of Salem's foremost citizens.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTION was another event which attracted great attention throughout the city. Interest was centered on three contests: Mayor, incumbent Harry M. Vincent and William Steffel, Bliss company machinist; auditor, Mrs. Helen R. Betz, restaurant operator and J. Lee Pelley, state auditor; president of council, Ned Massa, councilman and Electric Furnace Co. employe and R. John Taylor, former state senator.

Vincent, Betz and Massa won the heated contests and, with the exception of Democrat Fred Koenreich who was re-elected as councilman-at-large, Republicans took every elective office.

THE YEAR SAW notable changes within the city and among its people. The new $300,000 City Hall was completed and officials and workers began to move into it August 6. In December City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston filed a petition in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon to quiet title to the old city municipal building so it could be disposed of.

Salem's vast water-works project, the $1,500,000 East Cold Run Reservoir near Guilford Lake, was also nearing completion. By the end of the year all of the major contracts connected with its construction had been let. The reservoir is expected to be completed by mid-summer of 1952.

The Korean war continued to exert a profound influence on local people. Salem veterans were returning home for reassignment in ever-increasing numbers. And in some instances news was heard about some who had not returned—and never would.

In December Council passed a new ordinance which would increase gas rates to the city's residential and commercial consumers approximately three cents per day. The Natural Gas Company of West Virginia had requested the increase because of ever-mounting expenses in supplying the service.

OTHER EVENTS which held the spotlight in 1951 are:

Jan. 2—Vincent L. Malloy resigns as fire chief after 34 years in department. Clarence W. Wright subsequently appointed chief.

Jan. 4—Two brothers find body of Mrs. Bertha Pawek, 48, of Lisbon, missing six months, in brush of Pawek farm near Lisbon. Officials found no evidence to indicate a violent death.

Feb. 6—Council grants cost-of-living increase in wages to 30 city employes.

March 2—Pastors urge city-county vice clean-up. Subsequent grand jury investigation finds gambling local issues. Say matter is up to local officials.

Mar. 6—Council approves wage raises for 12 city elective officials.

April 2—Salem Board of Education approves plans for construction of $135,000 gymnasium-auditorium at Fourth Street School. Final phase of the $1,310,000 school expansion program begun in 1946.

April 9—Curtice Loop, 13, wins Salem spelling championship. Subsequently won district championship and competed in finals at Washington, D. C. where she tripped on word 'umbrage' after surviving three rounds.

May 15—Mayor Vincent urges residents to conserve water to overcome one of worst shortages to hit city in years.

May 29—Council adopts extensive traffic code.

July 3—Council passes ordinance authorizing hiring of three World War II vets to serve as deskmen at police station.

July 7-8—Charles H. Carey American Legion Post host to convention of 10th district Legionnaires.

Aug. 10—National Sanitary Company shut down by strike. Plant closed a week, affecting 820 employes.

Aug. 15—Charles J. Mosher Jr. appointed to replace Harold A. Zealley as head of Salem City Hospital. Zealley resigned to become administrator of Elyria hospital.

Aug. 20—Frederich James Emeny, 79, former vice president and chief engineer of Deming Co., dies of cancer.

Sept. 9—More than 3,000 persons attend formal opening of new City Hall.

Oct. 15—Community Chest campaign opens. Quota of $43,700 surpassed by $51.

Oct. 16—Fifty city employes petition Council for cost-of-living increase in salaries. Petitions later approved by Safety-Service Director and referred to Safety committee.

Nov. 17—Yeggs break into High School, cut through vault and escape with approximately $100.

Dec. 16—Karl L. Webster, 77, city auditor for past 19 years, dies following a week's illness. Auditor-elect Helen R. Betz appointed to fill unexpired term.

Army To Practice Unit Use Of Atomic Weapons

CAMP DRUM, N.Y. (AP)—This northern New York reservation girded today for "atomic warfare" in cold and snow as the Army and Air Force officially set in motion "exercise snowfall."

The services began a four-week period devoted to small-unit problems designed to toughen up troops assigned to the joint winter maneuvers. The actual exercise, involving more than 30,000 men, is scheduled for Feb. 9 to 15.

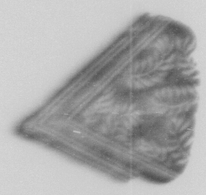

"Snowfall" will include the use of simulated atomic weapons at division level for the first time. The Army has said the simulation will be as realistic as possible short of actual employment.

About 15,000 infantry, artillery, Air Force and supporting troops already are here.

Salem Frosh Win At Goshen, 47-25

The Salem High School Freshmen captured their first win of the season yesterday afternoon at the hands of Goshen Union, 47-25, as they outscored the Union five in every quarter.

It was the initial win for Coach Kenneth Jacobs and his charges, having been topped in their opener by the Alliance Frosh, 35-22.

The Quakers took a 16-4 lead in the first period on the Goshen floor and opened the gap six more points in the second frame, 28-10.

The Salem five cashed in for ten points in the third stanza while Goshen managed to drop in nine markers, their highest quarter of the game.

Nine more points in the fourth frame totaled 47 for the locals as they held the Union five to six points.

Coach Jacobs cleaned the bench and used all twelve players who made the trip to the Union City, Kenny Bosu, pint-sized guard, tallied 17 points to lead both teams in the scoring department. Lee Mellot managed a dozen markers for the losers.

Panthers Hold 3-6 Season Mark

Coach Cabas Plans No Lineup Change

Coach John Cabas is preparing his Salem Quakers for the Warren Harding High Panthers when Warren Mentor Dwight Lafferty brings his outfit here Friday night in quest of his fourth victory of the season.

Warren, led by John Vlad, a three-year letterman, started the season with five straight losses and then pulled out of the dive for a trio of wins but were defeated again last Saturday evening by the Canton McKinley Bulldogs.

THE PANTHERS lost to Cleveland Holy Name in their opener, 52-50, and then to another Cleveland team, Heights, by a one-sided 71-44 count. A pair of Pennsylvania squads handed them their next two setbacks, the Farrell Steelers, led by 6' 3" and well-built Julius McCoy, whipping them, 58-38, and Sharon dropping them, 49-38.

Niles yielded 60 markers to the Panthers but scored 80 themselves and gave the Warrenites their fifth loss. A tough Alumni team finally fell in the closing minutes of play to give the Harding five their initial win, 54-53, and Girard lost a three-point decision, 45-42. The Indians later defeated Niles.

CANTON LEHMAN, rated as Canton's best cager outfit, was the victim of the third Warren triumph, having lost to them, 63-56. McKinley then tabbed a 59-52 decision on them to complete their 6-3 record, including the Alumni game.

The Warren five will look for their second straight victory on Salem's floor since they beat the Quakers here in the 1949-50 season, 46-43.

COACH CABAS indicated today he would stick to the same lineup he has been using all season but said he was very pleased with the performances of Harry Davidson, Jack Gottschling and Jerry Mountz in last Saturday's game at Ravenna.

The Salem mentor stated it would be hard to keep Davidson on the bench if he continued to improve as he had in the past week. The junior had subbed for Bill Brelih midway in the fourth period at Ravenna and garnered five points.

Gottschling and Mountz, both sophomores, are pushing the starting guards, Benny Roelen and Jerry Ball. Gottschling played the final two quarters against the Ravens and tallied six markers. Mountz replaced Roelen in the fourth period, after the latter had fouled out, and played a brilliant floor game.

Cabas said if the progress of the three boys continued, he would not hesitate to pull out the starters and insert the younger cagers.

THE WARREN RESERVES will also make an appearance here Friday to face Coach Chet Tetlow's team with a 4-3 record. The Panther understudies have only won one game this year while losing six. Coach Tetlow said he would be putting his team through a number of foul shooting practices this week after making only eight of 27 shots at Ravenna and losing the game by four points.

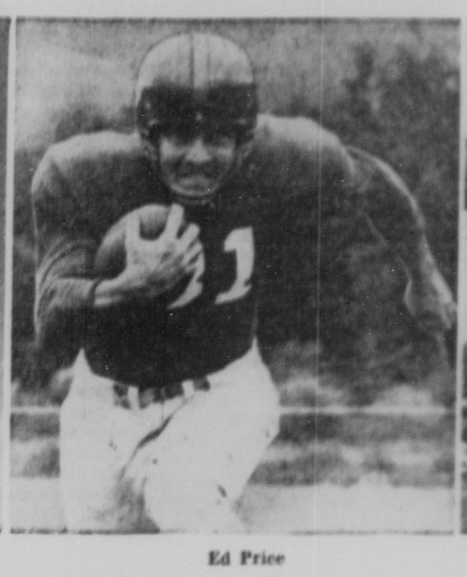

Here Are The 1951 All-Pro Backfield Gridders

Dub Jones

Doak Walker

Ed Price

Otto Graham

BY FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Four members of the Cleveland Browns today were selected for The Associated Press All-Pro football team. With the days of the 50 and 60-minute players apparently doomed, a two-platoon team was chosen for the first time.

The Los Angeles Rams, National Conference divisional winners with an 8-4 record and 24-17 victor over the Browns in the National Football League playoff, placed three stars on the 22-man squad.

The Browns, with an 11-1 record in the American Conference of the circuit, placed Quarterback Otto Graham and Halfback Dub Jones on the offensive platoon and Guard Bill Willis and End Len Ford on the defensive eleven.

CHAMPION RAMS who made the team were their great end Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch, on offense, defensive end Larry Brink and Linebacker Paul (Tank) Younger.

The Detroit Lions, who lost their chance to get into the playoff by losing to the San Francisco 49ers the final week of the regular season, placed three men on the offensive eleven. They were Guard Lou Creekmur, End Leon Hart and Halfback Doak Walker.

The rest of the offensive team included players from four other clubs. Besides Hirsch, Graham, Jones and the three Lions the other offensive All-Pros were Tackle George Connor and Guard Dick Barwegan of the Chicago Bears, Tackle Leo Nomellinni of the 49ers, Center Vic Lindskog of the Philadelphia Eagles and Fullback Eddie Price of the New York Giants.

The defensive platoon, besides the two Rams and two Browns, included Tackles Arnie Weinmeister and Al DeRogatis, Halfback Otto Schnellbacher and Safety Emlen Tunnell of the Giants; Guard Les Bingaman of the Lions, Linebacker Chuck Bednarik of the Eagles and Halfback Jerry Shipkey of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

THE ALL-PRO team of 22 players includes five repeaters of 1950—Walker, Barwegan, Connor, Weinmeister and Bednarik. The selection of Barwegan marks his fourth straight year on the team. Before playing with the Bears in 1950 he was with the Baltimore Colts.

Weinmeister, great Giant tackle and former Yankee, has made the team three straight seasons while Graham, Cleveland's tricky T quarterback, has been selected four of the last five campaigns.

The best vote getter on the team was the 27-year-old end Hirsch from Berea, O., a fellow who saw service as a halfback at Michigan and Wisconsin and also for the defunct Chicago Rockets.

HIRSCH DREW a vote from every city in the league, and with good reason. He was both the top receiver of forward passes and the leading scorer in the National Football League with 102 points. While scoring 17 touchdowns he gained 1,495 yards on 66 passes, to beat Don Hutson's 1942 record by 284 yards.

Graham, the best vote getter as field leader, was pressed by the Rams' sensational passer and punter Bob Waterfield. Graham had one of his great seasons, passing to 2,205 yards and 17 touchdowns, being second only to Detroit's Bobby Layne in these two categories.

Walker, sophomore sensation of 1950 when he led the league with 120 points, tallied 97 points.

JONES SCORED 12 touchdowns for 72 points and was one of the league's 10 leading ground gainers. His outstanding feat came against the once mighty Chicago Bears in Cleveland late in November when he scored six touchdowns in a 42-21 victory. It matched the record set in 1929 by Ernie Nevers.

Price, 190-pound fullback from Tulane, not only led the league's ground gainers with 965 yards but his 272 ball-carrying efforts broke by nine carries Steve Van Buren's mark made in 1949.

The team, picked after all games were played, was selected by AP sports writers in each city where the pros played.

Make 125 of 418 For High Average

Opponents Shooting 25.1 From the Field

The Salem Quakers will take a 29.9 shooting average into Friday night's game with the Warren Harding Panthers.

The excellent percentage of the Quakers have only won the three of the seven games they have played (including the Alumni) and the only reason is because the locals haven't fired as many shots at the hoop as their opponents.

Opponent teams have fired 378 times at the basket while Salem has been conservative and tossed 418 times. Visiting teams have tallied 140 goals and are shooting 29.7 percent. The Quakers have collected 125 goals, their average being just short of 30 per cent.

JACK GOTTSCHLING, scoring ace in six games thus far made the Quakers percentage-wise, having caged 10 goals in 20 attempts for a 43.5 shooting mark. The 6' sophomore also has a pair of free throws to his credit for a total of 22 points.

Junior Eddie Votaw is firing a lusty 36.5 in all seven of Salem's games. Votaw has 24 goals for 63 attempts and 17 goals for a 65-point total.

WAYNE HARRIS, Salem's leading scorer with 99 markers for the seven tilts, is third with a 33.6 average but he has been the most consistant shot on the squad and Coach Cabas rates the lad as the best shot he has ever had. Harris has made 39 field goals in 113 attempts.

Benny Roelen ranks fourth among Quakers shooters with a 30.7 average. Roelen has 16 for 52 and totals an even 50 points.

Jerry Ball is some six points behind Roelen with a 24.4 average for the five games he has played. Ball was sick for the second and third games of the year and has compiled 24 goals in 98 shots.

THE FIFTH Salem starter is Bill Brelih, 6'6" eager who needs some polish on his floor shooting. Brelih has fired the ball only 48 times, the least of any of the starting five and he has caged just nine times for an 18.7 shooting mark. Brelih remains a question in the Salem lineup and should he improve his shooting the Quakers will become a more prominent team.

Yankees Edge Giants For 'Team Of The Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second straight year, the New York Yankees baseball club was picked as the team of the year in the annual Associated Press poll.

The Yanks, who swept to their third straight American League and World Series triumph under Manager Casey Stengel, beat out the New York Giants in the poll just as they did in the series.

CASEY'S CLUB received 52 first place votes and 305 points on a 3-2-1 basis to finish 56 points ahead of the Giants whose stirring comeback captured the imagination of writers and fans everywhere.

Leo Durocher's team was named first by 52 of the 216 sports writers and sportscasters who took part in the poll. The Giants collected 251 points.

The leading teams, based on three points for first, two for second and one for third (first place votes in parentheses):

1—New York Yankees, baseball (53)	305
2—New York Giants, baseball (52)	251
3—Cleveland Browns, football (48)	259
4—Tennessee, football (24)	138
5—Michigan State, football (7)	60
6—Kentucky, basketball (2)	46
7—Princeton, football (4)	41
8—Illinois, football (3)	34
9—Stanford, football (3)	31
10—Maryland, football (3)	28

Chicago Cardinals To Announce Coach Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals were to announce their new football coach at an afternoon press conference today and no one would be surprised if it's Joe Kuharich.

Walter Wolfner, Card managing director, insisted late last night that a decision was not yet definite.

He stirred up some mystery by declaring "a big, famous name has entered the picture — and that makes four men now under consideration."

Besides Kuharich, who coached the University of San Francisco through an undefeated 1951 season, others being considered are Assistant Cardinal Coach Cecil Isbell and Lowell (Red) Dawson, former Buffalo coach in the defunct All-America conference. Wolfner's "famous name" coach was not identified.

NFL To Discuss Two Grid Changes At Pro Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two revolutionary changes affectin pro football may be introduced at the National Football League meeting in New York Jan. 17.

Reports are that a group of club owners favor abolition of the point after touchdown and the use of the "sudden death" method of deciding tie games.

This group contends the point after touchdown is almost automatic now, with every club having experts in this department. The "sudden death" rule allows for a short breather after a tie game, with the team scoring first thereafter the winner.

New parking grounds at Gulfstream Park race track will provide room for 1,500 additional cars, thus raising the over-all capacity to 6,500.

Los Angeles Open Goes Into 3-Way Playoff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Open golf tournament went into a three-way playoff today with Dutch Harrison pitting his long experience against a couple of graduates of the youth and enthusiasm school.

At stake were the three top prizes in the $17,500 tourney $4,000 to first, $2,500 to second $1,600 to third. Possible showers were forecast.

JACK BURKE JR. and Tommy Bolt, who together probably haven't played as many tournament rounds as Harrison, won their diplomas by finishing with 289s, five over par, to join the Dutchman in the top bracket at the finish of the regulation 72 holes yesterday.

Burke, of Houston, at 28 is more of a veteran than Bolt at 32. Young Jack, a Navy veteran, started playing in the big time before the war and shows promise of matching the achievements of his famous father. Bolt, an Oklahoman who plays out of Durham, N. C., served with the Army engineers, wound up the war as a golf instructor for GIs in Rome, but didn't cut much of a figure in tournament play until last year, when he won the North and South Open.

Don Rehfeldt of the Baltimore Bullets in the NBA set 19 individual scoring records at the University of Wisconsin.

Gil McDougald, recently voted the American League's top rookie, was a star basketball player in high school in San Francisco

Service Loop Captains To Meet Tonight

There will be an important meeting of all captains of the Service Bowling League tonight at 7:45 in the Salem Bowling Center, announced League Secretary Eugene Miller.

Pro Bowl Promises To Be Aerial Battle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Saturday's Pro Bowl battle between the American and National Conference All-Stars shapes up as a duel of pass-throwing quarterbacks.

Otto Graham, who will fire 'em for Paul Brown's Americans, will have as receivers Dante Lavelli, Fran Polsfoot and Backs Dub Jones and Ken Carpenter.

Jumbo Joe Stydahar, coaching the Nationals, plans to start with veteran signal caller Bob Waterfield, but he has in reserve such throwing artists as Norm Van Brocklin, Bobby Layne and Johnny Lujack.

And receivers! Such stars as Crazy Legs Hirsch, Gordon Salteau, Doak Walker, George Taliaferro, Billy Grimes, Tank Younger, Kayo Dottley and Hunchy Hoernschemeyer were catching passes all over muddy Gilmore Field in Hollywood yesterday.

The Pro Bowl game is for charity. Winning players will get $600 each; those on the losing team $500.

Archie Wilson of the Buffalo Bisons led the International League in '51 in runs-batted-in, total bases and hits. He is property of the Yankees.

Two Hockey Loop Protests Are Rejected

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maurice Podoloff, American Hockey League president, has rejected protest resulting for goals being shot when there was a fight going on and when there were two pucks on the ice.

REJECTED WERE protests by: The Cleveland Barons who held the goal by which Pittsburgh beat them, 3-2, Saturday was invalid because there was a fight going on which should have stopped play.

Providence which claimed it should have been allowed a goal scored Thursday against Buffalo just as the referee blew his whistle after finding two pucks going. One puck had been thrown by the Buffalo coach to attract the attention of Referee Walton Russel after three Buffalo players had been sent to the penalty box.

Providence lost, 4-3, in an overtime.

PODOLOFF RULED both protests "were based on matters involving the judgment of a referee" and decided to back the officials. He pointed out the rules say play shall continue despite a fight until the puck changes hands unless the official decides a player has been seriously injured. In the other case, the referee decided he had blown the whistle before the score.

Individual Stars Stand Out In Ohio's Basketball Action

Columbus East, Grand Rapids Knocked From Unbeaten Ranks

By BEN DAVIS

COLUMBUS (AP)—The accent is on youths in Ohio High School basketball today.

Youths like John (Big Thunder) Lewis of Fremont Ross, the All-Ohio footballer who has averaged 22.6 points a game—186 of them in a ball-control contest.

Or, Clarence (Bevo) Francis of Wellsville, the six-foot, eight-inch center who has netted 150 points in five games for a 31 points-a-game record.

Or the one-two punch Dillonvale way—Forward George Cotton and Center Jim Novotny. The two have scored 237 points for the Eight Rivers in five games.

Around stately Ohio, the teams still in the long fight now it's time to do or die to gain the semi-finals.

Ann Arbor, Ohio's "B" champ, has been it on the chin twice this season—once to Class "A" Toledo Macomber. But, in Northwestern Ohio the boys aren't selling the Wood County lads too short.

Columbus East, the reigning "B" champion, ran up 21 straight victories before it ran up against Coshocton Finley, winner of nine of Central's couple of weeks 10 games. Finley lost to Columbus South, 48-41, with many of its regulars fighting influenza instead of basketball. Grand Rapids looks good but Castalia and Margaretta, both undefeated, are strong challengers in Class "B".

Steubenville's Big Red—five in a row—is the district's only unbeaten Class "A" club. With 11 of 12 last year regulars back, the Big Red looks tough. It held "Bevo" Francis to 22 points—no mean feat since the giant Francis had fired 28, 29, 41 and 44 points in Wellsville's four previous wins.

SCIO'S PANTHERS, many times a Class "B" contender, has another surprising young ball club in the Steubenville area, paced by Bus Hugh, a midget of five-feet, eight-inches.

Top teams in Class "A" are tough to find around Massillon but little Class "B" Waynesburg is riding a win streak and East Liverpool in Class "A" had taken the last three.

In Central Ohio, top team may be Newark, a rangy outfit headed by six-foot, five-inch Charley Deeds that has won seven straight. Summit Station in Class "B" is undefeated, too, with six straight. Frank Washburn has counted better than 22 points a game. And Reynoldsburg in Franklin County is another undefeated Class "B" club.

Urbana has mastered 10 straight opponents for the best mark in the area to the West.

Another strong Class "B" club is Dunkler in Northwestern Ohio, winner of 12 in a row. Miller City, the 1950 Class "B" champs, are hitting the high places with nine on a string.

IN THE SOUTHWEST, Middletown and Hamilton, old cage rivals, are nursing unmarred records, each with eight in a row.

To the South, Class "B" Monroe is king with eight straight by virtue of a balanced attack.

But, taken by and large, the individual performer is catching the fans' eyes. And, in this day of giant cagers, some little fellows are doing all right, too.

GUYS LIKE Robert Downs of Class "B" Darby. Downs is only five-feet, five-inches tall but he's averaged 16.2 point a game. And, Bus Hugh of Scio, 5 feet, 8 inches, whose six-foot, three-inch brother, Bob, was an All-Ohio Class "B" selection a couple of seasons back, popped in eight straight long ones against Freeport the other night. He counted 22 points.

But, of all the individuals, Deeds of Newark is looking through the rosiest glasses. Yep, Charley wasn't able to shoot close to the backboard two years ago. Last year he wasn't a ball of fire, either. But, last summer he was fitted with contact lenses—the kind you put over the colored part of the eye.

That did it. Now he's a star offensively and defensively.

Bomar Takes Stance With Both Feet Flat, Left Slightly Ahead

(Second of a Series)
By BUDDY BOMAR
Former Match-Game Champion

IN EVERY phase of bowling, the best results can be obtained from efforts that are natural and easy.

I take my stance with both feet flat on the floor, my left slightly ahead of the right.

You may prefer to keep the feet together, however, and if that is comfortable, keep them together, by all means.

The knees are slightly flexed. This avoid tension and helps you acquire relaxation.

The elbows are in at the sides, the shoulders back.

MY HIPS and shoulders are squared away with the foul line and pins. This is important for any habit of pointing the hips and shoulder down the alley at an angle will probably result in your delivering the ball at the foul line at a similar angle.

I hold the ball about waist high in front of me with both hands under the ball.

It is permissible, however, to hold the ball as high as your shoulders if such a position makes you feel more relaxed.

I stand erect, but bending forward slightly at the waist is a fine method for releasing tension, and you may prefer it.

Experiment to find the best possible stance for yourself.

I didn't adopt any particular style of bowling merely by watching or listening to others. I tried various methods until I found the one that suited me.

I suggest you try the same.

AVOID TENSION—In the stance, Buddy Bomar's knees are slightly flexed.

NEXT: The first step.

Princeton's Dick Kazmaier Says He Won't Be Playing Pro Ball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dick Kazmaier, handsome Princeton University halfback who made everybody's All-America team in 1951, is going to thumb his nose at the grid game—professionally.

Kazmaier doesn't want to play pro football. He doesn't want to coach. Maybe, on occasion, he'll officiate at a high school or college game—but nothing else.

"I think I can go farther in business than in football," he said last night before accepting the Maxwell Club Award as the "Football Player of the Year."

In three years of competition with the Tigers, Kazmaier ran two and a half miles on the gridiron, scored 20 touchdowns and passed for 35 more TDs.

THE 21-YEAR-OLD gridiron hero apparently came by his football talent naturally. His father was captain of the 1921 Toledo University team.

Tiger Coach Charles Caldwell told how he first saw Kazmaier in action four years ago, when he was only a 152-pound halfback from Maumee High School.

"He was so slight that we doubted he would hold up in heavy competition," Caldwell said. "But he fooled us.

"Once he clicked he received more honors than any other man in the 80-year history of football at Princeton and brought us more recognition on the gridiron than we ever were accorded."

Reds Reject U.N. Prisoner Plan Again

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The U.N. command today rephrased its proposal for exchanging prisoners of war and the Reds promptly turned it down.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, Allied truce negotiator, said the U.N. plan was reworded to "eliminate any ground for technical opposition" by the Communists. The Reds still objected.

A second truce subcommittee argued nearly two hours over whether the Reds should be allowed to rebuild air fields during an armistice. Neither side changed its view.

While the negotiators wrangled, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator, conferred in Tokyo with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, supreme Allied commander. Joy said it was "merely a routine visit."

In presenting the revised plan for exchanging prisoners of war, Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said "this is in no sense a new proposal" but it had been rephrased to cover objections raised by the Reds.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner said if the Reds were allowed to repair their bombed out air fields it would be like a gun pointed at the U.N. Communists want to fix up the fields but ban importation of planes during a truce.

Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang said Turner was "creating intentionally excuses for disrupting and delaying the negotiations."

Singing commercials, as well as "talk," are eliminated automatically from radio programs by a new device. Its advantage over older devices is its ability to distinguish between singing commercials, whose words are very clearly sung, and opera, whose words often are far less clear.

Stocks Tend Lower On Lighter Volume

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks tended lower on lighter volume today after a selloff in the late dealings yesterday.

Losses extended to more than a point in several issues although most of them held to fractions. Even the utility average, which has been consistently setting new highs, lost a few cents.

First hour sales of 300,000 shares were 30,000 shares under the total for the same period yesterday.

A few issues managed to rise against the trend. U.S. Rubber sold at 77⅝ up 2⅛ on rumors of a splitup impending. Firestone firmed ½ to 67 on record sales and earnings for its fiscal year ending Oct. 31. Aluminum Co. of America rose a point to 81.

Union Pacific registered a small gain in an otherwise easier rail sector. Texas Co., Socony-Vacuum, Ohio Oil, and Shell Oil rose fractions while Superior Oil fell five points to 520 and Amerada lost 1½ to 142½.

Declines of a point or more appeared in American Cyanamid, Armstrong Cork, Douglas Aircraft, General Tire, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line, F. E. Myers, Scott Paper, Park Davis, and Texas & Pacific Railway.

Steels eased while motors were steady to easier.

FIRE HAZARD REMOVED

At 8:10 p. m. Monday firemen were called to the intersection of Broadway and State St. to wash the street of gasoline which had leaked from an automobile tank. $1,462.94.

necessary steel to complete the addition at Fourth Street School is due to arrive this week. The steel will be used when the general contractor, Charles Cartwright of Sebring, begins work on the roof.

The masonry work on the west and east sides and the north end of the addition is up to roof height, D. C. Wright, clerk of works, announced in his building program report. Other work progress on the addition cited by Mr. Wright is as follows:

Loose steel including joists and roofing materials is on the job; electrical work is up to date; coal pit is completed; stoker is installed and ready for use; and the sanitary sewer has been hooked up and the downspouts to drains has been connected by the plumber.

Arlene Crawford of RD 3, Salem has been appointed to serve as secretary in the nurses and attendance office at the high school. Miss Dorothy Smith, principal at Reilly School, was granted permission to attend the annual Reading Clinic Jan. 28 to Feb. 1 at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa.

Sanction was also given the adoption of a health text, "Personal Adjustment and Family Living."

A total of $16,422.49 was collected in football receipts for the 1951 season, the board was informed in a financial report. A balance of $828.73 added to the sum raised the overall total to $17,251.22. Total disbursements amounted to $15,789.18, leaving a balance (as of Nov. 30, 1951) of $1,462.04.

said he started burglarizing in December.

About $300 worth of merchandise from Shingler's was recovered, Sheriff Howard J. Clark said. The boys told him they threw the rest in Guilford Lake when they couldn't get rid of it.

Sheriff Clark questioned the boys off and on most of the day, spelled off by police from Stark, Trumbull and Mahoning Counties, Washingtonville, Wellsville and Lisbon.

Counting the stolen cars, valued at $2,000 and $2,600, their loot in merchandise and cash totaled $8,987. Sheriff Clark gave this breakdown:

Shingler's, $1,700; Feicht's Pontiac Sales near Lisbon, $250; Freedie's Tavern, Washingtonville, $3; North Heights Dairy, Unity, $75; Eagles Lodge, Columbiana, $775; Loudon's Sales Agency, Hanoverton, $42; bowling alley and garage, Minerva, $20; jewelry store, Poland, $1,007; hardware, Minerva, $20; gun exchange, Alliance, $425; Cope Furniture, Alliance, $35, and bowling alley, Alliance, $35.

None Injured in Two Area Traffic Mishaps

No one was injured in two district traffic mishaps investigated by State Highway Patrolmen during the past 24 hours.

A three-car accident occurred at 3:45 p.m. Monday on Route 164, three miles south of Columbiana, when a southbound car driven by Andrew Gbur, 26, of West Point skidded on a patch of ice into two northbound autos driven by John Swartz, 25, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Donald Clark, 42, of Summitville.

Mike Sabol, 23, of Ambridge, Pa., told patrolmen he lost control of his car at 5:45 p.m. yesterday on Route 14, one-half mile from the Pennsylvania line, causing it to leave the road and go into a ditch. Damage to the auto was not extensive.

Wooster Postmaster Accepts New Post

COLUMBUS (AP)—Col. Julius Stark last night said he would leave his position as postmaster at Wooster to accept appointment as assistant adjutant general of Ohio.

Stark's appointment to succeed Brig. Gen. Kenneth L. Cooper was announced in Washington yesterday by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Cooper has been ordered to active duty as artillery commander of the 37th Division, Ohio National Guard.

Gen. Leo M. Kreber, 37th Division commander, was succeeded recently as adjutant general by Col. Albert Henderson of Cleveland.

Stark has been postmaster at Wooster, where he was born and reared, since 1934.

a hitching post or a signpost

BIRTHDAYS, anniversaries, graduations, a new job—all are occasions for rejoicing as well as for reflection and new resolve. Whether or not a list of resolutions is made, the accomplishments of the past can be either a hitching post or a signpost to a brighter future. Careful self-appraisal is often as revealing as a stock inventory. But no matter what the goal, the ability to reach it depends on health. Your physician stands ready to take your physical inventory at any time. Why not seek his advice now? His suggestions can be relied upon for a sound health program.

Registered pharmacists are on duty at all times to fill your prescriptions.
